DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. The later-filed application must be an application for a patent for an invention, which is also disclosed, in the prior application (the parent or original nonprovisional application or provisional application). The disclosure of the invention in the parent application and in the later-filed application must be sufficient to comply with the requirements of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 USPQ2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

The disclosure of the prior-filed application, Application No. 10/376886, fails to provide adequate support or enablement in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 for one or more claims of this application. The retrograde flow preventer is not taught in the prior-filed application.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I and Species B in the reply filed on 5/21/07 is acknowledged.
3. The claims in Invention II have been cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 27-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Svensson (USPN 3,626,980).

Svensson discloses a medical connector having a longitudinal axis and comprising: interconnected axially aligned relatively rotatable parts forming a housing with a fluid flow passageway in said housing, said parts being configured for connection to external male and female Luer flowline connectors; a compressible seal (31) in said housing having a flow passageway extending from an axially aligned end to an axially offset end whereby relative rotation of said parts opens and closes a fluid flow path through said connector; and a retrograde flow preventer (21) positioned in said fluid flow path, said preventer having a resilient portion with a normally closed fluid conducting perforation in said resilient portion which opens at fluid delivery pressures exerted on an interior surface of said resilient portion and which remains closed at patient vascular pressures exerted on an exterior surface of said resilient portion.

6. Claims 27-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bonaldo (USPN 6,364,869).

7. Bonaldo discloses a medical connector having a longitudinal axis and comprising: interconnected axially aligned relatively rotatable parts forming a housing with a fluid flow passageway in said housing, said parts being configured for connection to external male and female Luer flowline connectors; a compressible seal (40) in said housing having a flow passageway extending from an axially aligned end to an axially offset end whereby relative rotation of said parts opens and closes a fluid flow path through said connector; and a retrograde flow preventer (60) positioned in said fluid flow path, said preventer having a resilient portion with a normally closed fluid conducting perforation in said resilient portion which opens at fluid delivery pressures exerted on an interior surface of said resilient portion and which remains closed at patient vascular pressures exerted on an exterior surface of said resilient portion.

Double Patenting

8. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101, which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

9. Claims 23-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1-21 of prior U.S. Patent No. 7,118,560. This is a double patenting rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 40-68 are in condition for allowance.
